CAMP BOOMING

The Oxford County Scout Camp is proving a great success. Everything is booming. The weather is exceptionally fine so far for camping and combined with the full camp program makes o a snappy crowd of boys. The second week's registration has reached a total of 85 Scouts, 110 Oxford County Scouts have had or are enjoying the privilege ni of attending and boosting the largest and leading Scout camp in Northern New England.

Through the influence of P. E. McCar thy, General Supt. of the International Paper Company, Rumford branch, has made a donation of a large shipment of H., over the week end. mattresses. . These mattresses as well as a new shipment of cots received this week will accommodate 100 Scouts.

As a member of the Oxford County Council, Governor Baxter will inspect the Oxford County Scout camp while County. He is expected in Locke's home of Mr. C. E. Valentine. Mills on Aug. 12th or 13th.

This camp boasts of the best Commissary Department in New England. "Dad" Leonard and his competent assistant Bodwell, both of Andover, are unanimously pronounced as the best cooks in the State or anywhere else. Their camp stews and meats are without equal and every meal is served on day. Saturday the Bethel team went to the dot and 100 per cent O. K. The Governor Baxter of Maine has issued a statement recommending as a first measure of relief on the part of the public that coal consumption be reduced to the lowest possible minimum in every home, industry and institution. A list of both wholesale and retail coal dealers of the state has been compiled by counties. Every one of these will be asked to contribute information from their patronage as to amount, character of requirement and immediate need.

The Bourne, Mass., Historical Soclety has purchased site of the old historic Indian Trading Post, with funds raised after more than a year of effort. For more than 45 years, from 1627 to about 1663 the trading post was an important factor in early colonization. It was there that the Dutch colonists from New York and trade, Indiana also came there to barter and trade with the whites. The location was such that the Pilgrims could come down the Equantum accessible from the South by way of the Monument river. nvestigation Shows at Least One Fowl In Fifteen is Undersized and Hence Unprofitable.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Runtiness is not so conspicuous in the poultry flock as it is among other farm animals, yet it is a factor to be considered, and it is possible that in some cases it is of great importance. Certain it is that undersized fowls are not desirable, and it has been the experience of many farmers and poultrymen that they can be almost, I not entirely, eliminated. This is the conclusion that may be arrived at after study of the figures and comments obtained by a preliminary investigation of runts and their remedy conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture. The information was obtained from nearly 1,000 farmers to whom questionnaires were sent. Although these farmers were considered to be better than the average, they reported that 7 per cent of their animals were undersized to such a degree as to be called runty. This means, if the percentage holds true for all farms of the country, that more than 14,000,000 animals, not including feathered stock, are runts. In addition 614 per cent of the poultry on these farms was undersized, which means that there is, perhaps, even a likher percentage for the total farms of the United States. Inbreeding and poor matings, as a cause, are the principal factors distinguishing runtiness in feathered stock from that in other farm animals. It is the consensus of opinion of 474 poultry owners, in all parts of the country, that the following causes are chiefly responsible for the runts found in feathered flocks:

Parasites, especially lice 12.4 Negloct 11.4 Poor housing Late hatching Selecting poor eggs

Total 100 0 Early hatching is of more importance. according to the comments of poultrymen, than the figures in the table indicate. It appears that relatively few flock owners are familiar with the advantages of early hatching, but those who do their hatching early find it a distinct benefit. For instance, one farmer says, "Last year all of my chickens hatched after the first of June were runts. Those before that were normal and were laying in October. The same care and feed were given to all of them," Another observes, "When I get my chicks hatched in April and May I do not have runts in my flock." Still another estimates that one-third of late hatches are runty. "Hatch no chicks later than May 1," he says,

Of equal inferest are the warnings against inbreeding. "We have no runts in our poultry" is the statement of a Virginia farmer, who adds, "We buy purebred tocks from a different strain every year." "Keep purebted fowls and change the sire every year" is the in-Junction of another poultryman, and his experience is typical of many others. Farmers' experiences with early batching tally with the results of experiments' by the bureau of animal industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. In these experimonts the early hatched chicks showed a marked superiority over those purposely hatched late. There was a noticeably stendy degradation in size and type of the late chicks compared with those hatched early.

From those side lights it is easily scen that the questions of runtiness and good live-stock management are clately related and are tled up with economic inctors of great importance.

DETERMINE EGG PRODUCTION

Much Depends on Kind and Amount of Feed Given-Hens Must Be Fed Requiarly.

The one most important fact for all farm poultry keopers is that egg production is determined directly by the kind and amount of feed given and that in order to lesure heavy taying the heas must be fed grain regularly and must have dry mash continually production in highly finished lines of manufacture as well as in basic industries. Iron and steel have shown inereased production, and there is signiscance in the automobile situation. Expensive distribution methods are everywhere being out and the manufacturers have come to regard the "used ear" as a serious competitor in sales. As : result there is all kinds of price-cutting and a clearly defined inclination on the part of manufacturers to make up in increased production what they will lose in the profits on smaller numbers of sales.

THE IMPROVED ASPIRIN TABLET Tingles LAXO ASPIRIN

Aspirin is prescribed by physicians more often they any other drug. It is safest and quickest relief from congestion, pain and lever. TINGLES LAXO-ASPIRIN ever. TINGLE'S LAXO-ASPIRIN is the new scientific aspirin tablet. It is gently laxative, cicansing the system of poisons which are often the cause of pain. Does not cause heartburn or indigestion as ordinery aspirin does. Breaks up a cold—removes the acid and relieves the pain of rheumatism, neuritus and lumbago. Brings almost instant relief in headache and neurolgia. Ask your druggist for TINGLE'S LAXO-ASPIRIN in the three point box, or mailed postpaid for 250. The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN DRACE XIV.—VERMONT

THE deriva-French "verts monts." or green mountains, and it was likewise the French who were probably the first white men to see those lofty landmarks which so appropriately give this state its name. This was in July, 1600, when Champlein made his memorable voyage up the lake now called after him. The first permanent settlement was made in 1724 at Brattleboro, where the Massachusetts colony established a fort as a buffer against Invesion from the north. The territory used was part of what was known as the "Equivalent Lands," which were sold at public auction in Hartterd for about a farthing an acre, the proceeds being donated to Yale college. Shortly after this, settlers pushed eastward from New York across Lake Champlain and westward from New Hampshire. This led to disputes between these two colonies as to their boundaries. Under the leadgrahlp of Ethan Allen New York's claims were resisted by a ideal-military torce, which proudly called themselves 'the Green Mountain Boys." It was these same men who played such a brilliant part during the

In 1777 a formal Constitution for the state was adopted and Vermonters are proud of the fact that theirs was the first of the states to prohibit slavery by constitutional provision. For a number of years Vermont reuniqued na a separate republic, but in 1791 it was admitted to the Union as the first addition to the original thirteen states.

Revolution.

In size Vermont has 0.504 square miles, and its congressional delegation numbers four. It thus casts four votes for the president.

A SCOUT USES HIS EYE

Scout Harvey Snook of Troop 1. Moscow, Idaho, was out on his Limile hike as required for first class scout rank. In the course of his journey, when he was keeping "mentally awake" observing everything that was of interest, he perceived a cow running frantically up and down a field, some 80 rods to the right of his path. He climbed three fences to reach the distressed autmal and on arrival discovered a calf drowning in the stream just below the pasture at the foot of a steep bank. The scout plunged down the bank, got the culf into shallow water, beyond danger of drowning. Then he ran to the farm house nearby where he found the owner of the cathe and helped him get the calf up the bank and into the barn.

for whom the police had searched in vain for five hours. The speedy discovery was due to the fact that a covery was due to the fact that a Tacsday of July in the year of our Lord scout had observed a child answering one thousand nine bundred and twentythe description and remembered pre- two. clastly where he had seen the child.

PRINCIPAL PRAISES SCOUTS

Henry M. Hart, principal of the Lewis and Clark High school of Spokane, Wash, recently issued the following statement: "Hoy scouts who come to the high school exhibit three predominating characteristics as a group: Ready proception, a sense of courtesy and willingness to assume the responsibility of student leadership. The Lewis and Clark boys who have had training in scoutdom exhibit a freeness, fearlessness and frankness that make for them friends. I am highly impressed with the value of this work for boys."

Health Maxims From Benedictines. In the early Middle ages the Benedictine monks had their own school of public health and hygiene. Dr. John Ruhrah of the Maryland College of Physicians and Surgeons, tells about It in a review of a new translation of the regimen of Salerno, Salerno, Dr. Ruhrah points out, was the place where the Benedictine medical school was located. It was a sort of offshoot of the great Benedictine monastery at Monte Cassino, halfway be-tween Rome and Naples.

Mr. Merchant

Do you realize the importance of getting your advertising copy prepared early?

You know our old friend procrastination. He's a cousin to the cow's tail.

Why follow, when you can lead?

Supposing all your customers left their shopping in your store until an hour before you were closing up at night, what would happen? You know. It would make great confusion, you couldn't give service and your customers would leave the store dissatisfied.

Well, in a way, that's what you often ask the newspapers to do. You wait until the ninth hour to prepare your copy, and when it reaches the office you expect the compositors to do two hours' work in one.

It can't be done.

The result is that your advertisement is slapped together in great haste, with a chance for errors and without proper display. It can't be otherwise.

Stop that old habit of putting off till the last day, the last hour and the last minute to send your copy to the newspaper office. Get it out early when you have time to think and prepare it properly. Then send it to the newspaper office two or three days ahead. That will give the newspaper time to prepare your advertisement properly. You can see the logic of it. It will mean better ads.

better service and better results. That's what you want. That's why you advertise.

Give the newspaper a chance. Apply the Golden Rule.

Rainsford paused irresolutely. Nonsense-not a word! Comerun into the other room to Dorothy,' Hardly conscious of voluntary movement, Rainsford found himself a moment later facing Miss Dorothy Kenton, who sat limp and silent, upon the living room sofa.

"Oh, but it couldn't have been." he demurred. "I never left them alone a minute, I flopped them over and iver all the time."

A peal of laughter interrupted him.

"Oh-oh-you don't mean to say that you stood there and turned those poor things over every second!" she cried, as soon as she could speak, "No wonder their spirits couldn't riseand just look at your fat! It's so hot it burned up what little life there was left !"

"Dear me, children, what a good time you are having!" called Mrs. Kenton from the doorway. "When one is young and in love one can find enjoyment anywhere."

Rainsford. "Don't you two look contented!" called a merry voice, as three girls; stopped at the end of the walk, "How is Mr. Kenton, Dorothy, dear?"

"He is very comfortable," replied Miss Kenton with studied politeness. "How absurdly idiotic some people can be," observed Dorothy, after a "Very," agreed the man. Dorothy looked at him sharply; then she sighed and fidgeted in her chair. "I don't like this deception," she protested.

"No? Then why not tell?" She gave him a scornful glance. "As if I could call out across the lawn to those girls: 'We aren't engaged any longer!"

"Hm-m; well, there's your mother." Miss Kenton frowned. "She has enough to trouble her now. As things are she'd be dreadfully distressed. I shall have to walt until father is better and you are gone."

"Oh!" murmured Rainsford. There was a long silence; then Dorothy sprang to her feet. She was almost hysterical with the tension of the last few hours. Things had scarcely improved since the morning. Rainsford had grown quite grave, and serupulously polite.

"As hostess, I feel it my duty to entertain you," she announced sweetly. "If you'll look under the table on that shelf there you'll find some games. Make your selection and we'll play." Dr. Kane arrived on the five o'clock train and went directly to the sick room. Fifteen minutes later Mrs. Kenton appeared on the vernida. "Well, Juck, you are tree," she said smilingly.

"Eh - what - how-" stammered Rainsford, growing white and red by turns; there was but one kind of freedom in his mind, and that he had already most unwillingly received at the hands of Dorothy. He ginneed at the girl now, but her face expressed only unalloyed joy.

"You mean the quarantine? It's over?" she asked eagerly. Mrs. Kenton nodded. "Yes; that fussy little doctor was all wrong. It's not diphtheria at all, and your father will be all right in a few days."

"How perfectly glorious!" cried Dorothy, "I never believed father was very sick. Now wo'll go off-let's see, what shall we do-rider"

Rainsford caught his breath, "Yes; or we might go on the lake," he said, In a voice that he tried to make diplomatically unconcerned. "Or we could play gold!"

"Hm-m; or we've got just time to see the sunset from Penk's hill," he further suggested, with a swift sidelong glance at her face.

"Inst the thing after being cramped up all day! I'll get into my walking skirt in no time." And she hurried through the ball door after her mother. The next minute she was back again with a dismayed face.

"Why, I-I forgot!" she faltered. "Forgot? Forgot what?" he naked amouthly. "Why, our-our-that things weren't the same any longer." "Oh, never talad a little thing like that," he enjoined. "But I-I was going to tell mother,

"What else should I do?" Mrs. Caranek questioned. "They are Americans and their country needs them. If it is a duty to raise children, it is right to make them love their country." But when Joseph and Louis came home-Joseph served oversens with the Rainbow division and fought in four big battles, while Louis fought in and around Camp Beauregard-the little grocery store could scarce contain the joyful celebration.

NAMED FOR THE COMMANDER

Legion Member Pays Honor to New Son and the Leader of the American Organization, Since the first time that America had a war, bables have come into the world named for a great or favorite general. The namesakesot Gen, George Washington are still numerous; those of Robert E. Lee and U. S. Grant are going strong into the second generation and there are not few John J.

Pershing Smiths and Joneses to vie with the less recent Dewers and Teddy Roosevelts.

One service man of the American Legion has, however, started the naming of bables after the national commander of the Legion of the year in which the child was born. The first on record is young Hanford Morris, Atlanta, On., born a few days after Hanford MacNider, Mason City, In., was elected national commander of the Legion. Ills father, Albert R. Morris, is a member of Atlanta post No. 1 of the Legion.

Recedify an ex-soldier of Chicago went into court and asked to be allowed to drop his middle name, which was unpronouncable, he declared. The court gave permission and the service man, an enthusiastic Legionnaire, chose the name of Legion to accompany him through life.

Legion Post Stages "Movies." To satisfy curiosity-hounds, the Hollywood (Cal.) post of the American Legion stages a "model movie" every week. This saves wear and tear on the nerves of the people in Morteland. and at the same time gives tourists a view of how movies are made. Real reel directors, cameras, and stars are used in the model exhibitions—but the Legion does the work.

Consider "Star" Flag an Insult. The idea, conceived by the W. C. T. U. of pulling star flags in windows of homes where no ilquor is consumed, is profested by an American Legion post in 8ah Francisco, composed entirely of newspaper men. The Legion men claim that the liquor star flag is an atroclous plaginrism of the service dag of war days, and that it is an innolt to all former service men.

To Halt "Pake" Money-Raising. In an effort to stamp out the sale of publications by ex-service men who allege that the money derived is golog to be used for the benefit of sick and wounded ex-service men, the American Legion national offices have warned its 11,000 posts not to sanction civic organization has dest approved. second Norfolk district.

Vegetables, fruits and nuts are sold by weight or number in Massachusolts, beginning August 2d, under a now law which abolishes the old dry measure of bushels or pecks as the standard. The new law is the resuit of an investigation by a special commission appointed by the Legislature of 1921. The commission, headed by E. Leroy Sweetser, in charge of the department of labor and industrios, found opinion against the "bushel weight" measurement. Dealere are now required to retail fruits. vegetables and similar commodities on the basis of avoirdupois weight or numerical count. An exception is made in the sale of goods in the original unbroken packages, where the package or container is according to to legal standard.

Tell President Harding Old and New Men Must Be Protected In Strike Settlement

NOT A MATTER OF CHOICE

Faithful Employees Have Both Legal and Moral Rights to Seniority and Other Benefits.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 2nd,-The seynote of the reply made by railway executives representing more than 180 Class I railroads of the United States to the proposition of President Harding that "All strikers be returned to their work and their former positions with seniority and other rights unimpaired," lies in the last paragraph from their reply to the President as follows:

"It is submitted that the striking former employees cannot be given preference to employees at present in the service without dopresent in the service without do-ing violence to every principle of right and justice involved in this matter, and without the grossest breach of faith on the part of the railroads to the men at present in their service.

"Under these circumstances, it becomes apparent that the rail-mads cannot consider any settle-roads cannot consider any settlement of the present strike which does not provide protection in their present employment, both to the loyal employees who re-mained in the service, and to the new employees entering it."

The executives had accepted the first two conditions proposed by the President, namely, that both employers and employees accept the decisions of the Labor Board, and that all lawsuits growing out of the strike be withdrawn; and in relation to the third condition spoke not only as quoted above, but also as follows:-

Agree With the President. "The railroad executives and managers agree entirely with the President's statement in his letter that it is wholly unthinkable that the railroad Labor Board can be made a useful agency of the government in maintaining industrial peace in the railway service unless employers and workers are both prompt and unquestioning in their acceptance of its decisions. "Many men in the service refused to join the strike and in so doing were assured of the seniority rights accruing to them and of the permanency of the jobs. On some important lines some fifty percent of the men refused to join the strike. To these old loyal employees have been added thousands of new men who were employed and could be secured only upon a definite promise that their services would be retained regardless of the settlement of the strike, with all the rights appertaining to such employment, including that of seniority, under the working rules and regulations previously approved by the railroad Labor

Board." "Just The Opposite Effect" "We especially point out that a retusal to the old men who remained in the service and to the new men who accepted service, of the rights of seniority incident to their employmont, would have just the opposite effect to that desired by the President, and would most seriously die-credit the Labor Board. "The Board Itself prescribed the Rules of Seniority under which themen referred to have secured their seniority rights, and the Railroad Companies have neither the legal nor moral right to deprive these men ec those rights. By public utterates since the sirike began, the Board has recognized and emphasized these rights, and to dany them now would instead of upholding the Authority of the Labor Board, overthrow its rules and discredit its authority.

"The Chairman of the Labor Board at the time the strike was called, made the following public statement:

"Upon one question the sirik-ing employees should not be de-ceived, their leader has said that the strikers are no longer em-ployees of the railways, and they have thus suitomatically abus-doned their rights they possess under their agreements and under the decisions of the Board, in-cluding their seniority. This is not the Board's action. It is their own. "Many carriers are giving their farmer employees the opportunity to re-enter the service within a limited time. It must be understood now that men who remained in the service and those who are now entering it will have right of seniority that the Board could not knore. What The Proposed Plan Means

"It must be understood that any proposal that employees now on strike suggesting that those men who took tion of the ratiroads, shall now be sacrificed in favor of men now on Gov. Cox has nominated Courtenay strike who not only brought about the

FORCE PERSHING TO SPEAK

Legionnaires of Bement, Illinois, Hold Up Old Commander's Car and Demand an Address.

General Pershing was captured while attempting to pass through friendly territory by a group of American Legion men at Bemeet, Ill. The old leader of the A. E. F. started trolley car, but Legionnaires, aided by a powerful ally in the person of the motorman, gathered in front of the trolley and demanded a speech.

The rear platform of the car was turned into a speaker's stage and "Dlack Jack" addressed the service men and their friends for ten minutes. The Legionnaires were marshaled together by Sidney Morgan, their post commander, who stood on the pigtform with his old general, and it was not until he had given the word that the former members of Pershing's command would give the troller the right of way.

AMERICAN IDEALS By Prof. David D. Vaughan

Certain ideals that are becoming the common property of men in the remote week. Thursday, with Mrs. A. Van Den corners of the earth have represented the aspirations of our traest Americans from the very beginning. American 10.45: Public worship conducted by ideals are older than our nation, for out of them our nation was born. And as the years have passed, these ideals have not and a more tolerant spirit widen the horizon and give new meanings to old The first ideal is Truth. It was this aspiration that laid the moral foundations of our government. The difference between North and South America may be partly accounted for by a recognition of the difference between truth seekers and gold seekers. Our fathers anxious to know the truth religiously, as they understood it, and determined to practice it, were so tremendously in earnest, that, when forbidden this liberty by a stupid English king, they left home and friends and property and greatest cargo of democracy that ever sailed the briny seas. They landed at Plymouth Rock, made a clearing in the woods and used the logs cut to build a church, for they were religious, to build a town hall, for they were not anarchists, but to build a school house, for they since, that education is the very foundation of truth. In spite of their own immediate and pressing material needs this pioneer group made the gift that Christian Science services are held gave birth to Harvard University, the every Sunday in Grange Hall, Spring University outstanding in America today because of its insistence on academe freedom.

We have been learning some things The program for Thursday ovening about truth that our fathers did not will be: Children's hour, 6 to 7 o'clock; know.
